Halloween Bats

Bats are often associated with Halloween, but why is this?

Possibly because lots of bonfires are lit at this time of year and the bright light from the flames attract small insects.

These small insects are what bats eat, so if there are lots of insects about there will be lots of bats about!

The link between bats and Halloween is strengthened by one particular bat called the vampire bat. Just like vampires, this bat drinks blood! It gets this blood from warm-blooded animals such as boars and anteaters.
